How did you get involved in international arbitration? I took international arbitration as one of my LL.M electives. I then attended the 2016 ICCA-Mauritius Congress where I volunteered for several activities. After my LL.M, I undertook the PCA-ICCA internship…

What is your favourite virtue? Integrity

What are your favourite qualities in another person? Sound judgement

What is your chief characteristic? Determination and faith in God.

What is your main fault? Not putting myself first!

What is your favourite occupation? International law

What is your idea of happiness? Balance

What is your idea of misery? Hopelessness

If not yourself, who would you be? My elder sister – she seems to be mastering that balance.

Where would you like to live? Anywhere with people I care about.

Who is your favourite prose author? Michela Wrong and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie write really well. I like Jack Canfield too.

Who is your favourite hero/heroine in fiction? Wonder Woman

Who is your hero in real life? My mother – she has fought the most to get me where I am.

What historical person do you most dislike? The likes of Hitler.

What is your favourite name? Zuri – Swahili for good.

What do you hate the most? Losing a close friend.
What is your natural talent? Running

What is your favourite arbitration-related decision? Have you seen the PCA Award Series?

Who is your favourite arbitrator? A well-prepared one.

Who is your mentor? I have several and I am very lucky that Prof. Lise Bosman is one of them.

What is your motto? It’s not the EVENT but your RESPONSE, that determines the OUTCOME.

What do you hope to contribute to Young ICCA? I hope to use my background, experience, and this position to create more capacity-building, networking, and exposure opportunities for young arbitration practitioners.